1. General

25X1

Between 1 July and 1 August 1955, no change was observed with the army units of the GSFG. Training activity continued according to schedule, including very intensive movements of units to and from artillery ranges (usual at this time of year). In early or mid-July, or 2 or 3 weeks earlier than in 1954, the units had already started combat practices including practices at the level of reinforced regiments or mixed combat groups. Arrivals of tanks from the USSR increased. Summer training of Soviet units outside of posts in Austria intensified compared to June, but did not come up to the intensity of training in preceding years. No major contingents of Soviet occupation forces had been removed. The training schedule of the KVP was marked by increased firing practices and training activity at training grounds. Recruit training at posts continued.

2. Training Activity

a. Combat Divisions

As a result of increased Soviet security measures, especially outside of posts, the training level can be judged only incompletely in July. Some reports, however, indicate that some armies started exercises of up to reinforced regiments or mixed combat groups in the second week of July, or 2 or 3 weeks earlier than in 1954. It is supposed that all divisions will conduct exercises of this kind very soon.

Intensive combat training, especially of recruits who had arrived in the fall of 1954, continued at posts with great importance being attached to chemical defense, handling of the gasmask, and decontamination of ordnance materiel. The increased number of armored personnel carriers towing light guns appears worth noting with regard to the protection against atomic weapons. The following exercises which probably emphasized cooperation of tank, artillery, and infantry units were observed:

11th Gds Tank Div. Several exercises with tanks and artillery which exceeded the boundaries of the KOENIGSBRUECK troop training grounds.

12th Gds Tank Div. On 16 and 17 July, a two-day exercise with moves into assembly position, and attack in a northwesterly direction in the eastern portion of the WITTSPOCK troop training grounds. From 24 to 29 July, tank exercises in the SCHWEINRICH area. Prior to 23 July, the bulk of the tank and artillery units was away from the NEURUPPIN post.

1st Mecz Div. From 7 to 15 July, joint exercises of most of the tank, artillery, and mechanized units, probably reinforced by elements of the 2d L Arty Brig, in the KETZIN-BUCHOW/KARPELOW area west of the DOEBERITZ troop training grounds.

6th Gds Tank Div. On 25 June, the elements in the GALLIN - WARTENBERG area on the Elbe River (floods?) transferred toward JUETERBOG. On 18 July, the former REINSDORF airfield, 12 km. southeast of JUETERBOG, was occupied by major tank units (T-34 and T-54). Prior to 26 July, the WITTENBERG post was only lightly occupied. The division apparently conducted major exercises in the REINSDORF area.

25th Tank Div. On 21 July, the bulk of the tank units moved from VOGELSANG to the KAPPE-KURTSCHLAG-GRUNEWALD-GROSS DOELIN area, south of the TEMPLIN troop training grounds; intensive air activity, predominantly at night, was observed there.

6th Gds Mecz Div. From early to mid-July, exercises of the bulk of the units in BAD FRIEDERWALDE, presumably together with part of the units in EBERSWALDE apparently in the area north of EBERSWALDE. In late July, an unidentified three-day exercise of the reinforced mechanized regiment in EBERSWALDE.

7th Gds Mecz Div. On 20 July, major elements with tanks presumably of the FUERSTENWALDE post moved toward the LIMBEROSE troop training grounds possibly for major exercises which terminated on 28 July.

39th Gds Mts Rifle Div. During the second half of July, exercises of elements in CHDRUP apparently in the MEININGEN area.

207th Mtz Rifle Div. From 10 June to 13 July, bulk of the motorized rifle regiment in QUEDLINBURG for exercises in the northern portion of the LETZLING HEATH.

For more details on training activity, see Annex.

b. Special Units

In July 1955, artillery and tank units continued their firing practices at least as intensively as in June. In addition to the usually used special firing ranges of ALTENGRABOW, JUETTERBOG, WUSTROW, and LETZLING HEATH, other ranges such as KOENIGSBRUECK and WITTSTOCK were used. The tanks of the combat divisions and independent tank units continued to conduct their firing practices predominantly at the training grounds of their units, in the areas near their posts and at the HILLERSLEBEN - SALCHA range in the southern portion of LETZLING HEATH. After mid-July, the activity decreased, probably because the activity of mixed combat groups started at this time. In July, the following units were observed at the following firing ranges:

(1) ALTENGRABOW firing range

Basic occupation since early May 1955: 3 brigades of the 6th Arty Div, 2 brigades of the 14th Arty Div, including exchange of an unidentified gun brigade which transferred to POTSDAM on 20 and 21 July, and the 30th Gds Gun Brig which transferred to ALTENGRABOW on 20 and 21 July; and 1 artillery brigade of the Third Shock Army.

- (5) During the first half of July, tank, artillery, and AAA units of the 7th Gds Mecz Div continually held 4- to 6-day exercises at the LIEBEROSE troop training grounds to which tank details of the division were transferred in several shipments from FRANKFURT/Oder. On 25 July, elements of the mortar regiment in BEESKOW were transferred in 2 shipments, apparently to LIEBEROSE.

In addition to the running training activity of the 12th Gds Tank Div, tank and artillery firing practices were held predominantly in the eastern portion of the WITTSTOCK troop training grounds. From 13 to 20 July, 9 shipments went from DOEBERITZ to WITTSTOCK and, from 19 to 24 July, 5 shipments returned to the post.

Mainly during the second half of July, units of the 8th Gds Mecz Div were transferred in several shipments from the posts to the KOENIGSBRUECK troop training grounds for firing practices.

Supplementing the Monthly Report of June, it is reported that, from 7 to 10 June, an AT gun firing practice at sea targets was held south of Tromper Wiek on Ruegen Island, presumably by the 4th AT Brig in PRORA. Similar firing practices were observed in 1954.

Training activity of engineer units was still observed only in the known training areas on the Elbe River. Training activity on the Mulde River ceased in mid-July. Since mid-July, division engineer units have presumably participated in the combined-arms training (mixed combat groups) of their divisions. From 9 to 19 July, the ROSSLAU engineer camp had to be vacated because of the floods. During this period, the 36th Bdg Cons Regt transferred to a camp in the woods near Lukow.

The following exercise was presumably a command-post exercise of the GSFG:

From 6 to 9 July, headquarters units and signal units of the Fourth Gds Mecz Army were transferred in several shipments apparently to the COTTBUS-LIEBEROSE area. At the same time, headquarters units and signal units of the Third Shock Army were loaded in MAGDEBURG, and signal units of the Eighth Gds Army were loaded in WELMAR; and the XXIX Gds Itz Rifle Corps in NAUMBURG. From 20 to 22 July, four shipments with the above-mentioned elements of the Fourth Gds Mecz Army went from the LOSSA troop training grounds to EBERSWALDE, and one shipment each from LOSSA back to STAHNSDORF (detaining station DREWITZ) and WUENSDORF. On 20 and 21 July, three shipments with signal units including presumably those of the Third Gds Mecz Army were observed going from the direction of HALLE toward JUETERBOG. These movements seen in their context tend to indicate that, as was the case in 1954, a command-post exercise of the GSFG took place, and that, in addition to the above-mentioned armies, units of the First and Second Gds Mecz Armies, which were not identified, possibly participated. The units of the Fourth Gds Mecz Army had apparently moved from the COTBUS-LIEBEROSE area as far as the LOSSA area, where the exercise was presumably terminated.

3. Arrival of Tanks from the USSR

In July, the arrival of tanks from the USSR increased, especially toward the end of the month. Approximately 430 tanks arrived and the total number of newly arrived tanks rose to approximately 1,470.

In addition to the tank divisions which had predominantly been equipped, the two motorized rifle armies received new tanks for their heavy tank SP regiments, and for the first time 2 or 3 mechanized divisions received new tanks. Since in mid-July, T-54 tanks were allegedly seen in the installation of the medium-tank regiment of the 1st Mecz Div. and since, on 25 July, T-54 tanks were seen crossing the border to DOEBERITZ as well as being detained in DOEBERITZ; it is rather definitely assumed that the tank units of the mechanized divisions are also scheduled to be resupplied with the new tank type.

4. Miscellaneous

- a. On 15 July, four light AT guns, which obviously were recoilless guns, were seen with the 2d L Arty Brig in DOEBERITZ. Since the 3d Gds AT Brig in ROSTOCK, and the 4th AT Brig in PRORA on Ruegen Island received guns of this type in mid-June, it is assumed that the artillery brigades which are equipped with AT guns are to be additionally equipped with this new armor-piercing weapon. The gun differs remarkably from the 82-mm SPG in the mount (split-trail gun carriage with tubular trails, pneumatic-tired wire-spoke wheels).
- b. On 20 and 21 July when the 30th Gds Gun Brig transferred from POTSDAM to ALTENGRABOW, three new guns of a type which had been observed at the 1954 May Parade in MOSCOW were seen in addition to the known 152-mm gun howitzers. This observation confirms the arrival of 6 to 12 122-mm guns at the 34th Arty Div. in POTSDAM which was reported in April.
- c. In July, it was repeatedly reported from various posts that the pay of officers and soldiers with a prolonged period of service was reduced approximately 40 percent. A report concerning the families scheduled to return to the USSR for good makes it possible to assume that this is more concerned with a payment cut in DM East rather than a salary cut, in order to hinder the clearing out of stores during the movement period. It has not been possible to determine whether all families are scheduled to return to the USSR or only those families whose time in East Germany has been completed.

5. Transportation

- a. Although the traffic situation continued to be strained on account of increased interzonal and border-crossing traffic, the traffic demands could generally be fulfilled.
- b. In July 1955, the railroad coal stocks rose to a maximum status of 9.8 days' requirements on 4 July. Such a peak has not been reached since late 1953. At the end of July, coal stocks began to decrease to 8 days' requirements on 21 July. Increased hard coal imports from Poland continued but showed a fluctuating tendency.
- c. East- and westbound border traffic continued to be intensive. The following details are of special interest:

- (1) Military supply traffic from the USSR included additional shipments of tanks (T-54s).

AA shipments, apparently complete units, continued to arrive. Several shipments of air force ground units were identified. An increase of fuel (jet fuel) shipments for the Twenty-Fourth Air Army was observed. Individual aircraft shipments were also recorded.

- (2) Several shipments probably of Soviet motor vehicles (buses) were dispatched from the GDR to Warsaw. These shipments were destined for the Fifth World Youth Festival. The carrying capacity needed was apparently made available by the countries participating in the festival.

d. Miscellaneous

- (1) [redacted] the independent dispatch office for railroad tank cars was dissolved on 1 July 1955. Duties of the dissolved office were taken charge of by other departments of the Ministry of Traffic.
- (2) Between 1 and 31 July, a traffic conference was held by the Eastern Bloc Countries in East Berlin. The conference concerned the establishment of an "International Railroad Office."
- (3) The first newly constructed coal-dust firing locomotive was completed. The construction of 20 coal-dust firing locomotives per year was planned for the second five-year plan (1956 to 1960).
- (4) Prior to July, 42 locomotives of column locomotives types 50 and 52 lent to Poland in the summer of 1954, were returned to the GDR.

SECRET

- (5) The execution of railroad construction projects continued to be delayed. The estimated costs must be cancelled because of increased prices for steel and timber.

The construction of the Westring-Berlin, including the Goin-Saarmund line section and the crossing of Lake Templin, was started.

The placing of rails was started at the Brieselang-Wustermark line section of the Nord-Westring-Berlin.

6. Supply

A summary of the current supply programs will be given in the monthly report of August 1955.

7. KVP

a. Order of Battle

No changes were observed at the posts. KVP engineers were confirmed in BUCHENWALD near WEIMAR. KVP quarters in BASDORF north of BERLIN and a topographical school in DESSAU were reported. The last elements of the MdI/KVP and the passenger-car battalion are expected to transfer from East BERLIN to STRAUSBERG soon.

b. Training

Training of the youngest recruits was conducted exclusively at posts and in special units as previously. Soldiers with a prolonged period of service were trained predominantly at company level for special missions. Some battalion exercises and exercises of mixed reconnaissance units or rifle and tank units in battalion strength have already been held. Transfers of units to target ranges and training grounds and to tent camps usually near the posts increased, presumably by rotation in regiments and divisions. Units with heavy weapons were in the main observed at target ranges and training grounds. Elements of officer schools were also transferred to training grounds.

The following exercises and shipments from and to training areas were observed:

c. Recruiting

The SED/PD/GST recruiting campaign for the KVP, border police, and SFS guard units terminated at the end of June and the beginning of July, allegedly on 1 July, the Day of the KVP. Since about mid-July, the interest had apparently been in real volunteers only, probably as a result of the fact that unfavorable popular reactions to the recruiting methods and the neglect of economic points of view had to be neutralized and, on the other hand, sufficient recruits had arrived to replace discharges of April. The present actual strength of the KVP (army) is roughly estimated at 90,000 to 93,000 men (approximately 88,000 men in late March). The border police and the SFS guard units received 6,000 to 7,000 recruits. Presumably in early August, an estimated 2,500 to 3,000 newly recruited officer candidates are to be inducted into schools. Contrary to a previous assumption, the KVP (army) discharged presumably only an average of 25 percent of the unit strengths. The next discharges are to take place in the fall.

d. Miscellaneous

- (1) The reequipment of the rifle battalions with 57-mm AT guns replacing 45-mm AT guns appears to be terminated. SU-100 guns have only been observed with mechanized regiments of Mecz Div POTSDAM.
- (2) Sporadic information again indicated that individual, especially selected KVP officers were sent to the USSR for a prolonged special training.
- (3) The GST and combat group training program continued to concentrate on intensive training as well as recruiting of commissioned and non-commissioned officers. The basic GST units are being reorganized into groups, battalions (Abteilungen) and Hundertschaften. Two or three months ago, the Zentralkommand (headquarters) was transferred from HALLE to NEUMAGEN near STRAUSBERG in order to guarantee close cooperation with the KVP headquarters.

8. Austria

In July, some supply installations were removed and supply goods were shipped away. The hospital in AMSTETTEN was vacated. The departure of Soviet families increased. Surveying operations near the border which had been observed for some time were being intensified.

Units of the motorized rifle regiments in EISENSTADT and MAUER OEHLENG of the 95th Gds Mtz Rifle Div. as well as elements of the 13th Gds Mech Div, probably including elements of the 46th Gds Mech Regt in KLOSTERNEUBURG and elements in battalion strength of the 44th Gds Mech Regt in VIENNA, held practices at the DOELLERSHAIN troop training ground.

Since the engineer training site northeast of Melk was heavily occupied, the engineer battalions of the two divisions are believed to be stationed there during the period under review. On 25 July, the site was flooded and had to be evacuated.

The bulk of the regiments of the 23d AAA Div were again at their posts at the end of June with only small details left in APETLON in July. This AAA firing range was also used by units of the air force AAA as in previous years.
